

Response to Consultation: Extension of Naturalization Periods

I am opposed to this proposal. My suggestion is that Europe should review the timeline again and recognize that it has already suffered significantly due to a shortage of human resources. It is still necessary to make every effort to attract talent, at least skilled specialists, and this law may discourage them from coming.

At present, the Netherlands is progressing at a very strong pace, and this law should not slow down the attraction of talents and professionals who contribute to its development.
